What are short-term programs?

Short-Term Programs (STP) provide an affordable way to improve student communication skills, cultural understanding, and motivation—with programs from seven to 31 days. We can customize schedules and instruction to meet your specific program needs. This can also include day trips to Vancouver for sightseeing, camping opportunities with our experienced staff, or other regional adventures. By living with local host families in our safe small-town location, students have many opportunities to practice speaking English and understand a different culture firsthand.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

- Language instruction provided by our Trinity Language Center (TLC)
- Task-based experiential education
- Critical thinking skills development
- Leadership development with TWU professors and staff
- Community engagement and volunteering opportunities
- Host family accommodations

SHORT-TERM PROGRAM OPTIONS

Language & Leadership

This program provides a solid foundation in English instruction and practice and combines it with leadership-oriented curriculum and activities developed by our university.

Customized Program

We can customize the above programs to specifically meet your exact needs and learning goals, including dates, curriculum, activities, and trips.

Explore More – Camping Option

We take our Language and Leadership program and add a camping trip in the beautiful British Columbia outdoors. This program focuses on leadership, teamwork, and real-world English communications through student-planning tasks and outdoor engagement.

PROGRAM DETAILS

Task-Based Learning Students are not just provided instruction in the classroom but also challenged to complete university-focused tasks in pairs and groups on campus. This enables students to quickly apply the skills they learned in the classroom and then individually reflect on their learning experience to improve their long-term skills and confidence.

Outdoor Teambuilding The TWU campus is blessed with beautiful nature and professional outdoor facilities. Students will enjoy learning through outdoor experiences, strengthening and encouraging one another.

TWU Undergraduate Classes Our TWU professors and classes offer an incredible opportunity for students to immerse themselves in a Canadian university environment. Emphasis is placed on observing different teaching styles, classroom culture, and interaction with peers.

Volunteering Experience We offer group volunteer opportunities that provide a wonderful way for students to gain understanding of the world we live in and meet with a variety of people in the community.

Culture & Sightseeing Through our programs, we can provide trips to the city of Vancouver, Vancouver Island, and many beautiful places in between. We can also include specific cultural experiences to meet learning outcome needs.
